of a dull, threatening morning excep-tionally large crowds assembled here o-day to witness the second day's racing of the Henley regatta. Interest in the meeting was vastly enhanced in the danger of the Diamond Sculls and the Grand Challenge Cup crossing the Atlantic. Americans and Canadians were present in force to support their respective compatriots. Henry White, secretary of the United States Embassy,, and Mrs. White were present to see their son "Jack" row No. 3 in the Eton boat in the contest for the Ladies' Challenge Plate. Several other members of the Embassy accompanied

Mr. and Mrs. White.
The wind was sufficiently strong in the forenoon to churn the water. It blew directly off the Bucks shore, giving the boats on that station a great advantage.

Some experts estimated that the station on the Bucks site was worth e full length.

Leander Wins.

Like yesterday, the racing began at 12.30 P. M. The first contest was the fourth heat for the Grand Challenge Although the London Rowing Cup. Club had the advantage of the Bucks station and rowed in excellent form, Leander led all the way, London's spurt toward the finish proving fruitless. The time was very fast, considering the wind, supporting the generally accepted view that nobody knows what reserve power is possessed by the Leanders until they are hard pressed. The half-mile time was 2 minutes 31 seconds. The mile was done in 5 minutes 30 seconds.

This opened the way for what was generally regarded as the most import-ant event of the regatta, the Canadians contest with Third Trinity, the crack Cambridge crew, accepted by all as the British champions in the heats for the Grand Challenge Cup.

The race was close and exciting to Fawley Court. The Argonauts led to Philadelphia.

England Beats Ireland.

The third heat for the Thames Challenge Cup was a great struggle. The Irisamen would have won but for their disadvantage of station. The Dublin crew got off first and still led at Fawley Court, after which Cambridge gradually drew level. A neck and neck race ensued and the Englishmen won by a narrow margin. sued and the Englishmen won by a narrow margin.

After the lunch interval the fourth heat for the Thames Challenge Cup was rowed in a pouring rain, which sent the summer-clad picnickers in search of shelter. The School of Mines got clear away at the start and kept the Thames oarsmen in hand the whole distance.

In the third heat for the Ladies' Challenge Plate aroused unusual enthusiasm and the Eton boys, whose special claim to this trophy is generally conceded, carried the good wishes of every one. They had the Bucks shore and took full advent down for some distance, but were then rowed down and the Etonians came away and won as they liked in excellent time, 7 minutes 29 seconds.

For the succeeding race, the eighth heat for the Diamond Sculls, C. S. Titus, of the Union Boat Club, New York, was a warm favorite, but he was rowed to a standstill, to the surprise of every one. The American was heavily handicapped, both in his station, which was the Berks side of the river, and the superior weight of his opponent, F. S. Kelley, Balliol College, Oxford, who had twenty-one pounds advantage. The Oxonian led away from the start and was three lengths ahead at Fawley Court. He maintained this distance, and paddled home an easy victor.

Kelley started with cutting down tactics. He put in 38 strokes in the first minute to the American's 35. The wisdom of the manoeuvre was clearly evident. The Oxonian went to the front forthwith and gained a quarter of a length in the first quarter of a mile. At the half-mile he was half a length to the good. Kelley's time at Fawley Court was 3 minutes 2 seconds.

He had then tacked on over a couple more lengths and Titus's fate was apparent, as he was completely outrowed. The wind dropped and rain recommenced falling just before the race, so the stations were less unequal than earlier in the day. Still. Kelley had a decided advantage.

Titus Badly Used Up.

Titus Badly Used Up.

Experts estimated that the Bucks station, when Titus competed with Kelley, was worth a couple of lengths to Kelley After the half mile, however, Titus never flattered his supporters and Kelley paddied home a winner by a distance variously estimated at three to eight lengths. Titus was badly used up at the finish.

In the second heat for the Wyfold Challenge Cup Burton Rowing Club beat London Rowing Club easily. Time, 8 minutes Is seconds.

In the third heat for the Wyfold Challenge Cup Kingston Rowing Club beat Trinsty Hall, Cambridge, by three-quarters of a length. Time, 8 minutes 4 seconds.

The Radley boys made a great show in the fourth heat for the Ladies' Challenge Plate. So far as Fawley Court the race was neck and neck. University College, Oxford, then shot ahead and gained a length advantage, which was doubled in the last half mile.

In the ninth heat for the diamonds R, B. Etherington Smith, Leander Rowing Club, took the race in hand from the start and easily beat J. Beresford, Kensington Rowing Club. Smith did no more than paddle the last half mile to slow time. The contest was no criterion as to what he may be able to do in the final against Kelley.
